

No Trumpet Blare For Cabinet Officers

Bankers Will Take Them to Fort and Dinner Before Conference.

There will be no brass band attachment to the entertainment for secretary of the treasury William McAdoo and secretary David M. Houston, of the department of agriculture. This was decided at a meeting of the chamber of commerce and clearing house committee at the chamber of commerce Saturday morning.

The two secretaries and their party will arrive at the Union station from the west at 4:20 p. m. Saturday, February 7. They will be met at the station by the joint committee and will be taken to the fort from the Union station in automobiles. The local and visiting bankers will be included on the informal reception committee and will go with the secretaries to the fort.

Will Be Shown Fort Bliss.
At Fort Bliss secretaries McAdoo and Houston and the accompanying committee will be met by Gen. Hugh L. Scott and his staff and they will be shown over the fort including the construction work on the new post, the prison camp of Mexican soldiers and the different branches of the service there. They will return from the fort in time for the dinner which is to be given in their honor at 6 o'clock. This dinner will be open to the public.

lie and will be in the banquet room of hotel Paso del Norte. There will be no speeches except short talks by the two guests of honor, who will be introduced by collector Z. L. Cobb, the chairman of the joint committee.

Hearing in Federal Building.
The public hearing will be held in the federal court room on the third floor of the federal building and will continue until the committee from Wilson's cabinet will leave for the east at 10 o'clock.

At this hearing there will be no long speeches or political harangues. A limited list of bankers, business and professional men will be invited to make short talks before the committee. Southwestern as well as El Paso business men will be given a chance to present their views on the regional bank location and the territory it will include. These talks will necessarily be limited and confined to written statements of resources, statistics and facts which have been carefully prepared in advance. This list is now being prepared and will be announced later.

Those who attended the meeting Saturday were: Z. L. Cobb, chairman of the joint committee; V. E. Stewart, president of the clearing house; James C. McNary, secretary of the clearing house, and retiring president Robert Krausner of the chamber of commerce. A. W. Reeves acted as secretary of the joint committee.

McCLINTOCK THROWS HIS HAT AT "RING"

Justice Announces Himself as an Independent Candidate to Succeed County Judge Byler

Judge E. B. McClintock, twice elected justice of the peace on the "ring" ticket, has thrown his hat at—not into the "ring." Judge McClintock has formally announced himself as a candidate for county judge. That was predicted some time ago when the judge went on a "rabbit" hunting trip to the island and neighboring vicinity.

The report is that Judge McClintock was promised the county judge's berth on the "ring" ticket. Despite the report that former corporation counsel Judge Adrian Foul had been taken under mayor Kelly's wing and was being groomed for that position, Judge McClintock waited patiently for some sign from the "ring." He was a "ring" man, and the rule of the "ring" rumor has it that a "ring" man must await the orders of the "boss." Judge McClintock waited, but no orders came. He then became an independent candidate. The question the anti-rings are now asking is: "Has Henry lost his grip?"

With the independent and definite announcement of Judge McClintock, the rumor is that mayor Kelly will not insist that Foul be placed on the ticket as a candidate for county judge. Rumor goes further and says that Judge McClintock's chances to become the "ring" candidate are better than ever. He is too popular among the voters. It is said, for even "the boss" to go after.

TEXANS DISREGARD IRRIGATION LAW

Austin, Tex., Jan. 31.—Little regard is being paid to the new general irrigation law of the last legislature by those interested in irrigation in the western and northwestern portion of the state, declares Maj. John Wilson, member of the state board of water engineers, who has just returned from an extended tour of inspection of that territory.

He says that he found considerable development in progress and approximately 200 persons, firms and corporations engaged in irrigating land, but none of them have as yet applied to the state for a permit as is required under the new law. This is in a measure at least accounted for by the fact that the law gives all such water consumers until July 1, 1914 in which to file their applications and get their permits from the board.

Major Wilson found many thousands of acres of fertile land susceptible to irrigation, but the people, he says, appear not to be familiar with the requirements and provisions of this new statute.

During his absence he visited Elephant Butte, where the federal government is engaged in the construction of a gigantic dam, which, when completed, will provide irrigation for 33,000 acres of land in Texas, Mexico and New Mexico.
